Example...

Question: From which point of view is The Wonderful Wizard of Oz told? What is the narrator's perspective?

Notice the key words point of view and perspective as well as The Wonderful Wizard of Oz are used in the introductory statement...

The reader can find the point of view and perspective used in $\it The$ Wonderful Wizard of Oz by reading a small selection of the story.

Three (3) passages are quoted from the book...

In the text, the author reveals Dorothy's thoughts. "Dorothy was puzzled at this, for it sounded queer to hear a stuffed man speak, and to see him bow and walk along beside her." The narrator also tells the reader that Dorothy was "truly sorry for him." Toto's thoughts are also included, "Toto did not like this addition to the party at first."

An explanation connects the quotes back to the answer...

L. Frank Baum tells The Wonderful Wizard of Oz from third person point of view through a narrator. The reader knows this because the narrator uses characters' names in place of the pronoun I when revealing thoughts. The narrator also shows the thoughts of more than one character creating an omniscient viewpoint.

Put it all together...
